

LEGACY

LEARNING CENTER

Islamic Education

The field of Islamic values education- with its focus on beliefs, values. Manners, feelings, attitudes, and moral literacy skills- should be the focus of contemporary Islamic education, as it was in the time of the Noble Prophet (pbuh).

Oriented Teaching Philosophy

We employ a team of dedicated, enthusiastic, learned, kind, and Muslims moral educators. From Early Childhood to the highest grades

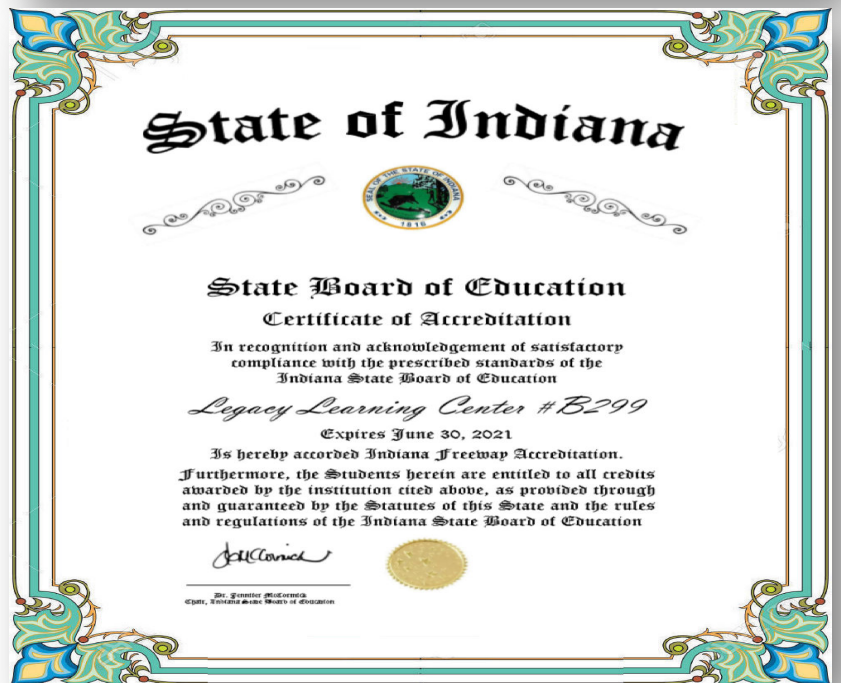

Indiana State Standard Based

We follow the academic standards established by the Indiana Department of Education. High School AP follow the guidelines required by the College Board.

The Need for healthy and strong Islamic Education According to a prophetic narration is that some individuals residing in very high levels of paradise would wonder how they reached these levels, when their own deeds were not enough for that. Allah the almighty will say to them, “You left behind your children who were praying for you all the time, and this kept raising your levels in paradise higher and higher.” (The word praying encompasses all aspects – physical, spiritual, intellectual, emotional, and moral – of raising a child with an emphasis on the idea of upwards and lofty growth). Legacy’s philosophy is rooted in the belief that every student has the right to the best quality of education available, and that education is a process, which encompasses the entire experiences students encounter in their school.

MashAllah, we have reached another flourishing school year by delivering quality education to our students and having an awareness and harmony practice for the beliefs and religion of Islam. Alhamdulillah the result of being an A school grade, receiving the status of a Qualified high school performance from Indiana department of Education and the Office of School Accountability and the renewal for our Accreditation till 2021, is an encouragement and outcome of a daily little progress that adds up to big results. Legacy has something that all Muslim community's need. Everything we require to accomplish our goal is already within us at Legacy. We master our day than we keep doing that every single day. It doesn't matter how slow we go as long as we don't stop. As said: "Believe in yourself and you'll be unstoppable".

Islamic Tarbiyah for legacy educators means an approach to address the heart, mind, body, and soul of our curriculum. Islamic Tarbiyah has had a significant impact on the way we teach and what we teach. For example teaching an earth science lesson about pollution. The lesson would cover the same basic information about pollution. However, as an integrated part of the lesson the science teacher, would also address the concept of the successor (Al Khalifa), God deputy on earth. “And mention when your lord said to the angels, “Indeed, I will make upon the earth a successive authority” Al-Baqara 30. The Qur’an teaches us that God gave humans a purpose on this earth, and part of that purpose is to be responsible for the earth. And cause not corruption upon the earth after its reformation” Al-A’raf 85.

What does that mean to the students? What should it mean to the students? What is the student’s role and responsibility as a USA Muslim Citizen in regards to pollution? In what ways can the student impact the world around him/her to make this happen? The lesson on pollution isn’t complete until the students explore all the possible ways the concept of the successor might apply. The teacher guides the student in their discovery of this knowledge. A lively and engaging curriculum at Legacy Learning Center incorporate educational concerns such as brain-based, cognitive, child centered, readiness, living in a pluralistic society, and more. The results are impressive. Our goal at legacy, as Elementary, Middle and High school faculty, is to make sure each of our students leave our Legacy Center wishing they could return. We accomplish this goal by building strong relationships with students and then leveraging those relationships to help students learn and become good citizens.

We teach our students that the surest way to get what they want is to give it away first. If they want love, they must give love. If they want respect they must give respect. If they want to be treated right, they must treat others right. If they want honesty, they must be

We teach our beloved students that Physical education & fitness is not only one of the most important keys to a healthy body, it is the basis of dynamic and creative intellectual activity
